Adam told me that the unique way an elf's metabolism works was slowing down the deterio-ration of her limbs, but it still wasn't the sort of condition that you could just heal. My hesitation to amputate her limbs had been putting her life in danger...

...

The damage to her skin and internal organs will heal naturally, but her limbs and eyes...

Her limbs have a corrosion spell on them and are infected, so things are going south rather quickly there.

Well, her right eye has recovered, but her sight has been intentionally blocked by mana. As for the left eye, I couldn't fix it even with a replacement.

Leaving them as is could be lethal. I SAY, CUTTING THEM OFF RIGHT HERE IS THE ONLY OPTION.

clank...

clank...

Her condition is quite... interest-ing, let's say.

After the examination

Let me out.

Aww wnh~ ...

Rattle

Yeah?

CREEP
